

Army Begins To Mobilize

Build-up Could Increase Troop Number By 150,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army today was embarked on a program that could add as many as 150,000 men to its present strength by next summer.

Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. says the extent of mobilization will be governed, to some degree, by what happens in the Berlin crisis and elsewhere in the months ahead.

He told a news conference Wednesday that, among other things, the Army has alerted 113 units of the National Guard and Reserve, with a total of 23,626 men, that they have been designated "priority units for possible call to active duty."

Stahr said the Army expects to reach an authorized total by next June 30 of 1,008,000.

"We still may not and, indeed, we hope that the international situation will be such that we don't have to call these reserve units and individual reinforcements from the mobilization pool," he added.

However, there was more certainty about the future for other soldiers. The Army intends to extend the duty tour of about 84,000 enlisted men who until now had been scheduled to complete their enlistments between Oct. 1 and next June 30. Instead, they will be ordered to stay on for periods up to four months. In that time, the Army expects it will have received enough men from training centers to replace the 84,000.

Officers have their plans cut out for them, too. Those who now are serving what they thought would be six-month active-duty tours will be liable for up to one year of additional duty. ROTC officers not now on duty face up to two years of active service.

Beginning Oct. 1, overseas duty will be longer, extended six months for those stationed in Japan and Germany, three months for Korea.

The draft will continue high—25,000 men in the September quota, at least 20,000 in October. This is in addition to volunteers for first enlistment.

From these various sources—holding men in service, encouraging others to remain voluntarily, more volunteers, draft, possible call-ups of units and individuals in reserve—the Army aims at attaining its authorized strength by next summer. Its manpower as of now totals about 858,000.

The added manpower will be used in a variety of ways. Foremost is the revamping of three present training divisions into combat divisions. When fully trained and equipped, they will become part of the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), doubling its present three-division strength.

STRAC is the quick-action part of the Army, held in readiness for immediate dispatch to trouble spots anywhere, including Europe.

The Army now is in process of sending about 6,000 more men to Europe to augment the NATO forces. Stahr declined to say how many more are expected to go.

Dust Blamed For Pile-up On Hiway 50

Road Work Dust Seen As Hazard During Fair Week

A heavy blanket of dust engulfing a section of Highway 50 from about a mile west of Dresden to LaMonte was blamed by one of the drivers as the cause of a three-car accident Wednesday.

The section of Highway where the accident occurred is undergoing resurfacing. The highway is covered by gravel, and passing cars stir up a heavy dust which cuts down visibility. Investigating Highway Patrolman W. T. Southwick said the heavy inflow of traffic expected for the State Fair would render the situation increasingly dangerous, and urged drivers to exercise more caution.

The work on the highway is being done by the Missouri Petroleum Products Co.

There were no injuries in the accident, as was first believed when the Gillespie ambulance was called. The accident occurred about 5:45 p.m.

All three cars involved were east-bound on Highway 50. They were a 1955 Pontiac driven by Thomas Joseph Schriedel, 25, 227 South Gentry; a 1957 Buick driven by John Wailand Coons, 53, 300 East 14th; and a 1960 Plymouth driven by Norah Alberta Moffett, 57, Gravois Mills.

The driver of the Plymouth blamed the heavy dust covering the highway for the accident.

An estimated total of $925 damage was done to the three vehicles. The rear bumper of the Pontiac, the front and rear of the Buick and the front of the Plymouth were damaged.

The Pontiac and Buick were driven away under their own power, while the Plymouth was towed from the scene by Bacon's wrecker.

No Anger, Indignation Expressed In The Notes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France protested to the Soviet Union today that the Communist barricade in Berlin is "illegal." They declared they expected the Soviet government to "put an end to these illegal measures."

Identical notes were delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office by embassies of the three Western powers in Moscow this morning and then were made public in Paris, London and Washington.

The Western powers complained that the closing of the border "is a flagrant, and particularly serious violation" of the four-power status of Berlin. They rejected the Red argument that East Berlin is part of the territory of East Germany.

"Moreover, the United States government cannot admit the right of the East German authorities to authorize their armed forces to enter the Soviet sector of Berlin," the U.S. note said.

The other Western notes used the same language except that the British note, for instance, said "Her Majesty's government cannot admit" etc.

The wording of the text was restrained and free of any threat by the West or any phrasing designed to express anger or indignation. The note was drafted jointly by representatives of the three Western powers and apparently reflected a decision on their part to handle the Berlin situation at this point with a gentle touch.

The action paragraph of the note, which State Department officials said was designed as a "strong" call for removal of the Communist barricades, said:

"The United States government solemnly protests against the measures referred to above, for which it holds the Soviet government responsible. The United States government expects the Soviet government to put an end to these illegal measures. This unilateral infringement of the quadripartite status of Berlin can only increase existing tensions and dangers."

State Department press officer Lincoln White was asked why the U.S. government "expects" the U.S.S.R. to lift a barrier which officials have been saying privately will undoubtedly remain in force for a long time.

White said the U. S. government's expectation was based on the "solemn obligation" of the Soviet Union to treat Berlin as a city under four-power control with free travel guaranteed within its borders.

Property Valuation In County

$60 Million Value On Taxable Items, County Clerk Says

Pettis County assessed valuation of real estate, personal property, merchant and manufacturers and corporations for tax purposes add up to more than $60-million, according to figures released Thursday by the office of the County Clerk.

These figures were compiled after the Pettis County Tax Board of Equalization meeting early in July and the Board of Appeals meeting that concluded Tuesday. These figures, unless changed by order of the Missouri State Tax Commission, will be the final valuations for 1961.

Earlier in the year The Democrat-Capital published temporary assessed valuation figures on real and personal property, and on county-assessed corporation personal property, which added up to $49,094,230. This figure was reduced to $48,972,310 through action of the equalization board and the board of appeals, a drop of $121,920.

The total figure released Thursday, $60,359,651, includes state-assessed corporation tax of $9,898,511 and merchants and manufacturers tax of $1,488,830. The final tabulation is as follows:

State-assessed corporation, $9,898,511.

Real and Personal, $48,972,310.

Merchants and manufacturers, $1,488,830.

Grand total, $60,359,651.

Even with the board reductions, real estate and personal property assessed valuations this year are $130,273.50 more than the assessed valuation in this category in 1960.

Real estate and personal property valuations are broken down as follows: Rural real estate, $14,783,625; City lots, $22,017,145; and personal property, $12,171,540. The real estate valuation is based on 421,531 acres in the county.

Work Is Underway On Johnson County's First Roadside Park

Workmen are clearing an area north of Knob Noster at the southwest corner of the intersection of state routes J and E for a roadside park — Johnson county's first.

Land for the park was donated by Miss Lois L. Kendrick and William Russell Kendrick in memory of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Kendrick of Knob Noster. A plaque on the premises will commemorate the donation.

The Country Crossroads Garden Club of Knob Noster has been working on the project for several months obtaining the necessary permits. Picnic tables and grills will be placed in the park with more equipment planned later.

The garden club will maintain the park and landscape the area. The location is convenient for travelers as well as local residents.

Draft Notices To 18 Young Men In County

Four Pettis County men have been called for induction into the Army and 14 others will take their physical examinations under the September draft call, local Selective Service officials reported today.

Mrs. Verna E. Williams, clerk of the Pettis County Selective Service Board No. 84, said the inductees and those being called for physical examinations will report to the Kansas City reception center the same day, Sept. 5. Names of the inductees were not released.

Induction notices were mailed Wednesday and notices of calls for examination were sent out Tuesday, according to the clerk.

The September call represents an increase in draft calls through the local office. One man was inducted in July and one in August, the clerk stated.

Mrs. Williams reported two men were to have been inducted during the August call, but one man, Charles Lee Cason, 23, formerly of 517 West Jefferson, failed to appear and is being sought by federal authorities.

Like a Slot Machine

Two police officers were mildly surprised Wednesday night while checking automatic laundries in the area.

Officers Charlie Knapp and Frank Lueck were making a routine check of the Coin-O-Matic laundry on West Highway 50.

One of the officers pulled the lever on the coin changer, and out came $2.50 in change—just like a slot machine. Someone had jammed the machine earlier.

The money was turned in to the police station to await a call to the laundry operator.

Defection of Red Chemist May Be First, Such Escape

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The quitting of the Soviet Union by a chemist is a rare if not the first defection by a prominent scientist from the new Soviet aristocracy.

For in the U.S.S.R. the scientist and teacher are among the aristocrats so far as better pay and better living go. A premier is put on education and high skills.

Dr. Mikhail Klotchko presumably gave up more than most Soviet citizens who have asked asylum. But personal reasons, or possible reverses in his career, have not been spelled out yet.

Dr. Klotchko's awards of the Stalin Prize and Order of Lenin indicate he stood well among the Soviet scientific hierarchy. So does his assignment to travel abroad.

But chemistry is not one of the stronger sciences in the Soviet Union. In the judgement of most Western scientists, possibly it is not so well supported financially as mathematics, physics, astronomy, and space research in which the Russians are most active.

A high official of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, asked how scientific research is budgeted, said, "We don't always get what we ask for in each field. Sometimes we have to wait another year or so before we can plan certain things."

Unhappiness over chemistry's share of the research fund melon possibly contributed to Dr. Klotchko's defection.

An American astronomer visiting the Soviet Union a few years ago drew a clue to the satisfaction of some Soviet astronomers, at least, with their blue-blood position.

He invited two of them to go to dinner with him since one of the men had entertained him at home. They agreed but on condition that they pay for the dinner because, they explained hesitantly, "We understand that in the United States, scientists don't make much money."

A young physicist, writing a highly technical but valuable book which sold only 500 copies, was paid enough to buy an automobile, a rare possession for Soviet citizens.

Freedom to choose his own research might have affected Dr. Klotchko's decision. For the Soviet government can powerfully influence policies.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: This is not a request for help but a plea to parents of small children to leave the little ones at home when they go shopping in the evening.

I'm sick of seeing toddlers pulled by the arms, scolded, slapped and spanked in department stores and super-markets. It hurts me when I see a five-year-old rubbing his eyes and whining — only because he is exhausted. And then the worn-out mother just about pulls his little arm out of the socket because he isn't "behaving properly."

I recently saw a mother who showed more compassion for her dog than for her four-year-old son. When the dog cried she picked him up and petted him. When the boy pulled on her sleeve and whimpered, she gave him a crack on the head.

Please, Ann, tell these mothers that small children belong home in bed at night. I've told a few face to face — but you could tell millions. — OBSERVER.

Dear Observer: I can add nothing to your sensible plea but my whole-hearted endorsement.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been drinking from six to eight highballs every night for the past 15 years.

I've been working ever since we married. Last month I kept track of the money spent on liquor in this house (I don't drink and we seldom have company) and it amounts to my salary. I reasoned, then, that I could quit work if my husband would stop drinking.

The problem is, I want our two children to have a decent place to live, good clothes and a few extras. If I quit my job, something has to give, and I know what it will be.

The doctor told me three years ago I should not be working downtown and running a house, too. I'm tired and half sick most of the time. I want to quit work and stay home but my husband claims drinking is no problem and he refuses to give it up. What can I do? — M.V.A.

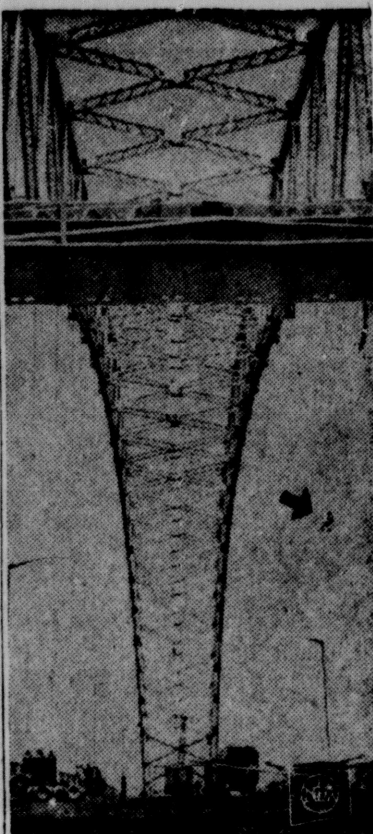

Dear M.V.A.: Anyone who has been drinking from six to eight highballs every night for 15 years is an alcoholic whether he knows it or not. An alcoholic is sick but unless he is willing to admit it you can be sure he will make no effort to straighten himself around.

Here are your alternatives: (1) Tell your husband to either go to A. A. or get out, in which case you risk depriving your children of a father. (2) Quit work and become accustomed to a lower standard of living. (3) Continue to work so you can provide your children with the extras and so your husband can continue to fog himself up every night and anesthetize himself against reality.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll be brief and to the point. My fiancé's aunt has lots of money. She has always pampered him with trips and gifts because she had no children of her own and Ted is her favorite nephew.

This aunt doesn't like me because I'm not a college girl and I don't have anything to brag about on the society page of the newspaper when our engagement is announced.

We've gone together three years and planned to marry in October. Now Ted tells me he needs time to think it over. He feels he owes his aunt "a lot" and that

Documents Identified By the US

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman today confirmed the authenticity of two documents used by Cuba to attack the United States at the inter-American economic meeting.

The spokesman said the documents were stolen from the car of Teodoro Moscoso, U.S. ambassador to Venezuela, when it was burned in a leftist-inspired riot in Caracas June 14.

A U.S. spokesman at the Punta del Este, Uruguay, conference said earlier this week that the documents had been stolen from the ambassador's car.

The State Department investigated after Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's economic czar and delegate to the conference, quoted from the documents in a bitter speech against the United States. He claimed they demonstrated the Venezuelan government had been "domesticated by U.S. imperialism."

The Cuban delegation circulated copies of the documents among the other Latin-American delegations.

One of the documents, prepared for use within the U.S. diplomatic system by staff employees, assessed Latin-American opinion about the U.S.-Cuban situation in the wake of the abortive Cuban invasion and subsequent statements by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The document portrayed most of Latin America as unwilling to formally endorse direct U.S. intervention against Cuba except in case of an unmistakable Castro involvement in an attack on a Latin-American government.

The other document, in describing how U.S. economic aid could be most effectively applied in Venezuela, criticized Venezuelan government administration as inefficient and graft-ridden and its tax structure as favoring the rich. The document termed reform a basic necessity if U.S. aid is to be put to best use.

The State Department spokesman said the documents were intended for internal use among U.S. officials in trying to help Venezuela with her reforms and were in no sense a criticism of the Venezuelan president, Romulo Betancourt, whose policies Washington supports.

Hijacked Plane Back In Miami Ready to Fly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Eastern Air Lines' hijacked Electra was back in Miami and ready to fly again today after an unscheduled 23-day stay in Cuba.

The $2.5 million four-engine plane was returned Wednesday by Capt. W. E. Buchanan, who flew it to Havana July 24 with a pistol at his head.

Buchanan said the ship was unharmed and Cuban officials told him it had been under 24-hour a day guard.

The plane was returned in exchange for a $50,000 Cuban patrol boat sailed to Key West July 29 by three defecting Cubans. The U.S. State Department arranged the swap.

The FBI has charged the EAL plane's hijacker with two counts involving crime on the high seas.

The hijacker, Wilfredo Ramon Oquendo, a Cuban-born naturalized American, is being held in a Havana jail, the EAL crew was informed.

Two Given Nod For Judgeships In the State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House today notified Missouri senators that Floyd R. Gibson of Independence and William H. Decker of Columbia will be nominated by President Kennedy.

Both men were recommended by Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, Missouri Democrats.

Long said the nomination of Gibson to fill a newly created judgeship will be sent to the Senate later today.

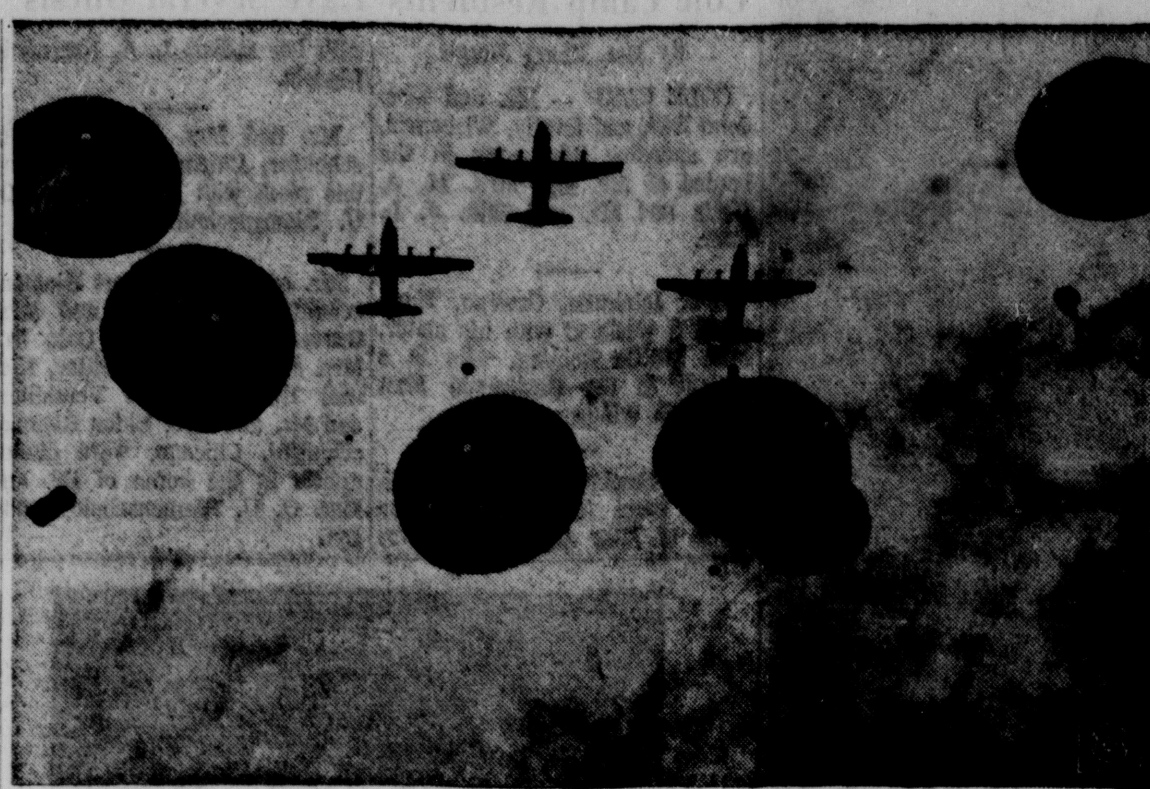

Becker's nomination to succeed Judge Albert B. Ridge, promoted to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, will be sent to the Senate Monday, Long was told.

Castro Says Revolution Much Faster

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro claimed today the Cuban revolution is showing it can accomplish in one year what the United States plans to do in 10 through President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress plan for Latin America.

Referring to the plan approved at Punta del Este, Uruguay, by the United States and all the Latin American countries except Cuba, Castro said: "Imperialism is talking about 10 years... but the Cuban revolution will show it can be achieved in one year."

The Cuban prime minister offered as proof his campaign to wipe out illiteracy in Cuba this year.

He called on Cuban workers to help in the campaign and announced that 30,000 workers have been mobilized to join teachers and students teaching the country's peasants and farmers to read and write.

Castro said that nearly half of the more than one million illiterate Cubans are learning to read and write or have learned since the campaign started.

Castro addressed a meeting of the Cuban Confederation of Workers, which is taking part in the campaign.

Before the speech the assembly adopted a resolution setting stiff penalties for workers who refuse to learn to read and write.

Reekie said a doctor after an examination recommended her return to the hospital, and the court granted the request.

Top Chemist Slips Away; Seeks Asylum

OTTAWA (AP)—A prize-winning Soviet chemist, Mikhail A. Klotchko, remained in a secret hideout today after slipping away from a party of visiting Soviet scientists and taking political asylum in Canada.

Klotchko, 59, had been awarded the Stalin Prize and Order of Lenin, indicating he stood well in Soviet scientific circles. He is a specialist in organic chemistry.

In Moscow the Soviet Foreign Ministry declined comment on the defection. Spokesmen at the Soviet Academy of Science and the Soviet Academy of Organic Chemistry claimed they had never heard of Klotchko.

Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who took Klotchko under his protection, described him as a chemist of "considerable world importance."

Harvison said Wednesday night he preferred to let Klotchko tell his own story of what motivated his defection but that the Russian wanted a good night's sleep before deciding whether to meet newsmen.

Klotchko was in a group of Soviet scientists that came to Canada early in August for the 18th International Congress on Theoretical and Applied Chemistry in Montreal and stayed on to do some sightseeing.

Klotchko is a widower with no family in the Soviet Union.

Dr. Alan D. Westland, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Ottawa, said he had glanced over some of Klotchko's published work and on the basis of these doubted his defection would be of strategic importance to Canada.

U.S. scientists said chemistry is not one of the stronger sciences in the Soviet Union and is given a back-seat financial status to such others as space research, mathematics, physics and astronomy. There was some speculation that Klotchko was dissatisfied with conditions of his work.

Engineers explained after the failure that the extreme vibration of the engine had damaged a switch on a fuel valve, causing an automatic shutdown.

It was the first time newsmen had been allowed to witness an F1 firing.

The F1 is being developed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the Nova moon vehicle. Eight F1s, developing 12 million pounds of thrust, are to be clustered as the first stage of a 400-foot-tall rocket which is expected to boost a three-man Apollo space craft to the moon by 1967.

30-day Outlook Is Released By Weather Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau's 30 day outlook for the period from mid-August to mid-September calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normal in the southern half of the United States and also in the north east, with greatest departures in the east Gulf states.

Above normal temperatures are indicated from the upper Mississippi valley westward to the Pacific Coast with near normal elsewhere. Rainfall is expected to exceed normal in most of the southern half of the nation and also in the northern plateau and coastal areas of New England.

Sub normal amounts are indicated for the central lakes region the upper Mississippi valley and northern plains. In areas not specified near normal precipitation is anticipated.

What Makes Fruit Juice Jelly

Pectin is necessary to make fruit juices jelly. It is a carbohydrate, found in all fruits chiefly near the skin, in the core, and around the seeds. Pectin is most abundant in slightly underripe fruit and is diluted in fruit in a rainy season.

Heat is necessary to release the pectin from the fruit tissue, but over-cooking will destroy it—especially in very acid fruit. Sugar tends to prevent the extraction of pectin.

Commercial fruit pectin, a concentrate made from apples or citrus fruit, is a modern aid to successful jam and jelly making. Two types are on the market—the liquid and the powdered.

With its use, you can use all fully ripe fruit, full of natural flavor, instead of having to use a portion of underripe fruit for its pectin content. Too, the length of cooking time is much shorter when commercial pectin is used.

Acids are found in all fruits and vary in kind and amounts in different fruits. And with pectin, acid content changes during growth and ripening. The fully ripe fruit has less acid and pectin than the slightly underripe. Acid is necessary for the formation of jelly. An increase of acid, within limits, decreases the amount of sugar needed.

Mineral salts, also found in all fruits, affect the acidity of the juice and influence the ease with which the pectin is released.

Sugar is needed to jelly fruit juice. Too little sugar gives a tough jelly, but too much makes it sirupy. Whether the sugar is cane or beet is unimportant as they are the same in chemical composition.

Uncooked Jam

Strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, blackberries and peaches can be used with commercial fruit pectin for making uncooked jam. Use fully ripe but sound fruit for finest color and flavor. The jam tastes like fresh fruit, although many people prefer the flavor of cooked fruit in jam and preserves.

General mixing directions:

This type of jam is very easy to make. A pectin solution is stirred into sweetened crushed fruit and then the mixture is poured into containers to stand until "set" before sealing and storing in the refrigerator or freezer. If frozen fruit is used, reduce the sugar according to the amount added when the fruit was frozen—usually omit one cup for three cups fruit.

Uncooked jam will keep in the refrigerator a few weeks or in the freezer for months, but because it is uncooked, it will not keep on the kitchen shelf.

To have the jam at its best, use it soon after opening the container. If the jam is too firm when opened for serving, stirring will soften it. In most jams that contain much extra pectin, the crushed fruit floats to the top. If it tends to separate, stirring will blend it again.

Uncooked Blackberry Jam

4 cups blackberries
box dry pectin
1 cup water
5½ cups sugar

Use three cups fully ripe and one cup slightly underripe berries. Put berries through a food grinder. Combine pectin and water in a saucepan and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add the sugar and 3½ cups fruit pulp to the hot pectin. Stir five minutes to completely dissolve sugar. Pour into glasses or freezer containers, cool, and let jelly. Put in refrigerator for use in a week or two, or freeze. To serve the frozen jam, let thaw 30 minutes, then turn out. Refrigerate any unused part. Makes three pints.

Jelly Troubles

As each lot of fruit presents its own special problems, anyone may have jelly troubles. Crystals may form in the jelly, the body may be weak, tough, or cloudy, or the juice may fail to form the characteristic jellying texture.

Many jellies grow firmer after they are made so do not judge texture too soon. If you have runny jelly, it's usually smart not to try to cook it over. It makes good eating on waffles and pancakes, a good topping for ice cream, and a good sweetener for summer fruit drinks and punches. Cloudy jelly may be due to (a) too green fruit, (b) cooking fruit too long, (c) squeezing the jelly bag, or (d) using too open a cloth for straining the juice.

Crystals or glass-like particles in jelly may be due to (a) too much sugar, (b) too long slow cooking, (c) not enough acid, (d) too great a delay in sealing. Tartaric acid crystals occur in grape juice if not allowed to settle out before using the juice for jelly.

Weeping usually occurs in Jellies from berries, currants, and other fruits that are high in acid. Weeping is thought to be caused by a contraction of the jelly mass which squeezes out liquid similar to the separation of whey from curd in sour milk. It may be hurried by storing the jelly in a warm damp place. If the jelly was jostled or the sides of the glass were not clean, the wax may not have made a perfect seal, causing "weeping" to occur.

Mold or fermentation may result from a poor seal and storage in a warm damp place. Vapor will collect beneath the paraffin and break the seal. If the jelly is properly sealed with regular canning jar lids, this spoilage will not occur.

Blackberry Jelly

Use berries ¾ black ripe and ¼ red ripe. Pick over, wash, and crush. Add water, about ¼ cup to 1 quart berries. Heat until soft, five to ten minutes. Pour into wet jelly bag and let drip. For each cup of juice, measure ¾ cup sugar. Complete according to general directions for jelly making.

fact

Though many industries have compulsory retirement at 65 or earlier, psychologists say there is no fixed age when a man is "through."

Tests comparing a group of retired executives to some bright young medical students came up with heartening news for oldsters. Higher brain functions were still remarkably intact in eight out of 10 former executives. Many surprised the students.

The Cities Look Ahead

City and regional planning specialists are the first to acknowledge that for a long time major planning in this country was mostly a thing of paper promises, a fancy idea given wide lip service but seldom converted into fact.

But today the turning of urban and area plans into action is beginning to be a reality in a good many parts of the nation.

Cities like Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Rochester, N. Y., and New Haven are performing major surgery on their often crumbling cores.

Where before World War II only a handful of U. S. centers had master plans for this purpose, today more than a hundred have.

Sedalia took a step in this direction several years ago when far-sighted leadership evolved a city planning program. Considering the national trend to speed up such programs perhaps there should be renewed effort locally to revive interest in the program and accelerate its accomplishment no matter who gets the credit for its inception.

Planning technicians, once looked at askance as "starry-eyed dreamers" are in ever mounting demand. In 1944 the American Institute of Planners had 233 members. Today it has 2,800.

There are more than a dozen planning schools, and 31 colleges and universities, a sharply increased number, today grant degrees in the planning field.

Why the burst of activity and the trend toward using plans instead of tossing them onto dusty shelves?

The main factor seems to be the startled awareness of countless public officials that their communities, large and small, are in for sweeping change — which they must somehow govern if they do not want to be engulfed.

Secondly, the very magnitude of the problem has brought massive programs into being — urban renewal, area redevelopment, highway network, school and hospital construction.

If these projects are not to conflict and overlap, they must somehow be fitted together. No one wants to see repetition of such a case as occurred in the 1930s, when a public housing project was begun and then torn down to make way for a highway.

Quietly, the federal government, source of much of the "development money" our communities get, is exerting pressure for more effective planning. In such matters as urban renewal and area redevelopment, "workable programs" must be presented before the funds are handed over. We may see still more of this.

Private industries and builders, too, see increasing value in relating their efforts to some sort of general plan.

The planning veterans see the surface barely scratched, with urban sprawl in outlying sectors racing unchecked.

But they agree a real planning start has at last been made. And Americans who do not wish to be smothered in community disorder must share their pleasure at these marks of progress.

German Communists Void of Humor

By DREW PEARSON

BERLIN—Billy Wilder, the motion picture producer who was born in Vienna and used to write for Berlin newspapers, went over to East Berlin to compare notes with some of his old pals of the Berlin writing fraternity. They were glad to see him, even though he has now become one of the most successful screen writers of the capitalist world.

Wilder asked his former associates how many films they had produced in East Germany last year. The answer was 30.

"What kind?"

"Documentaries, some cultural films . . . and documentaries," was the answer.

"Any comedies?"

"None."

This may be one trouble with the Communist system—an inability to laugh at itself, especially in East Germany.

In East Berlin, Wilder is making a deal for the release of his comedy hit, "The Apartment," a sexy story of a Madison Avenue executive who gets ahead by lending out his apartment to the boss for clandestine parties. The East German Communists were anxious to buy this film because it showed up the morals of capitalism.

"It could only happen in New York," they told Wilder.

"It certainly could never happen in Moscow," he agreed. "Nobody in Moscow has an apartment he can spare."

Joke Cost $200,000

The East Germans may not have a sense of humor, but they played their own joke on Wilder when he was shooting "One, Two, Three," the hilarious story of an American girl's romance with a young Communist in this divided city. The joke cost Wilder $200,000.

The plot of "One, Two, Three" involves the daughter of a go-getting American soft drink company manager in Berlin who is entrusted with chaperoning the daughter of the boss from Atlanta. She falls in love with a young German Communist, secretly marries him, and in order to break up the romance, the branch manager—played by James Cagney—gives the young Communist a wedding present of a cuckoo clock from which Uncle Sam pops out waving the American flag. Cagney wrapped it in the Wall Street Journal and puts the young Communist on a motorcycle headed for the Soviet zone with a balloon which, when inflated by the exhaust, swells out to read "Russki Go Home."

Wilder planned to shoot the bicycle scene just under the Brandenburg gate, which is a few feet inside Communist territory on the border between East and West Berlin.

The Communists unwittingly gave permission for the shot. But just before the bicycle scene, the sun went behind the clouds, and the scene had to be repeated. By that time East Berlin police had seen the "Russki Go

Guest Editorial

MIAMI HERALD: Jurisdiction on the Fly.

Legal eagles are stumped by the case of the man who committed a crime in the presence of 118 witnesses and does not deny his guilt. The rub is that it occurred in a jet plane traveling 600 miles an hour 32,000 feet above the landscape between Chicago and Los Angeles.

What Perry Mason could do with a situation like that!

The culprit became enraged (over Iowa) when the stewardess confiscated his whisky bottle. Over Nebraska (or was it Colorado?) he set out to retrieve it. Above Utah (some say Nevada) he tried to rough up the young lady and was floored by a Marine who came to her aid. The crew trusted him up for delivery upon landing to the California police. Their reaction: No jurisdiction, no case. But the prisoner languishes in jail while attorneys argue.

As usual there's a demand for new laws and FAA says it will ask Congress to take emergency action to prevent this happening again. We hope the proper legislation is adopted promptly.

Just suppose this had happened on a rocket trip to the moon — which may soon be commonplace. Who holds court on a meteorite?

Lonesome Tough Guy

James Cagney, who has played the role of tough guy most of his life, has a chronic case of homesickness. Two days after he arrived in Germany to play the lead in "One, Two, Three" he wanted to go home. Mrs. Cagney was with him; even so, he wanted to go home.

Cagney played vaudeville, one-night stands, and split weeks during all the early years of his theatrical life. He has washed his own socks, lived in Pullmans, and dozed in day coaches, knows most of the hotels in the United States. Just the same he likes to be home.

This is only the second picture he has worked in out side the United States, the other having been shot in Ireland. He speaks German, learned it from Yiddish-speaking Jewish boys in a Manhattan high school. His wife loves to go sight-seeing around Germany. Nevertheless, the tough guy of Hollywood will be awfully glad to get back home.

When I asked Cagney how he happened to get into vaudeville, he replied: "To get a job."

"It was right after the first war and things were tough. I was in Columbia for six months in the students army training corps. But when the war ended, I had to go to work. I could sing and dance a little, so I got a job with a men's song and dance act—female impersonators—at the old Nixon Theatre on 52nd Street in Philadelphia. I've been at it ever since."

German technical crews and German actors are easy to work with, according to Cagney. The routine here is about the same as in Hollywood. Others on the set, incidentally, say Cagney has been a great promoter of people-to-people friendship. Homey as an old shoe, his easygoing informality has won a lot of friends among the Germans. As one German technician put it, "You Americans don't sit over in the corner like a German actor and scowl."

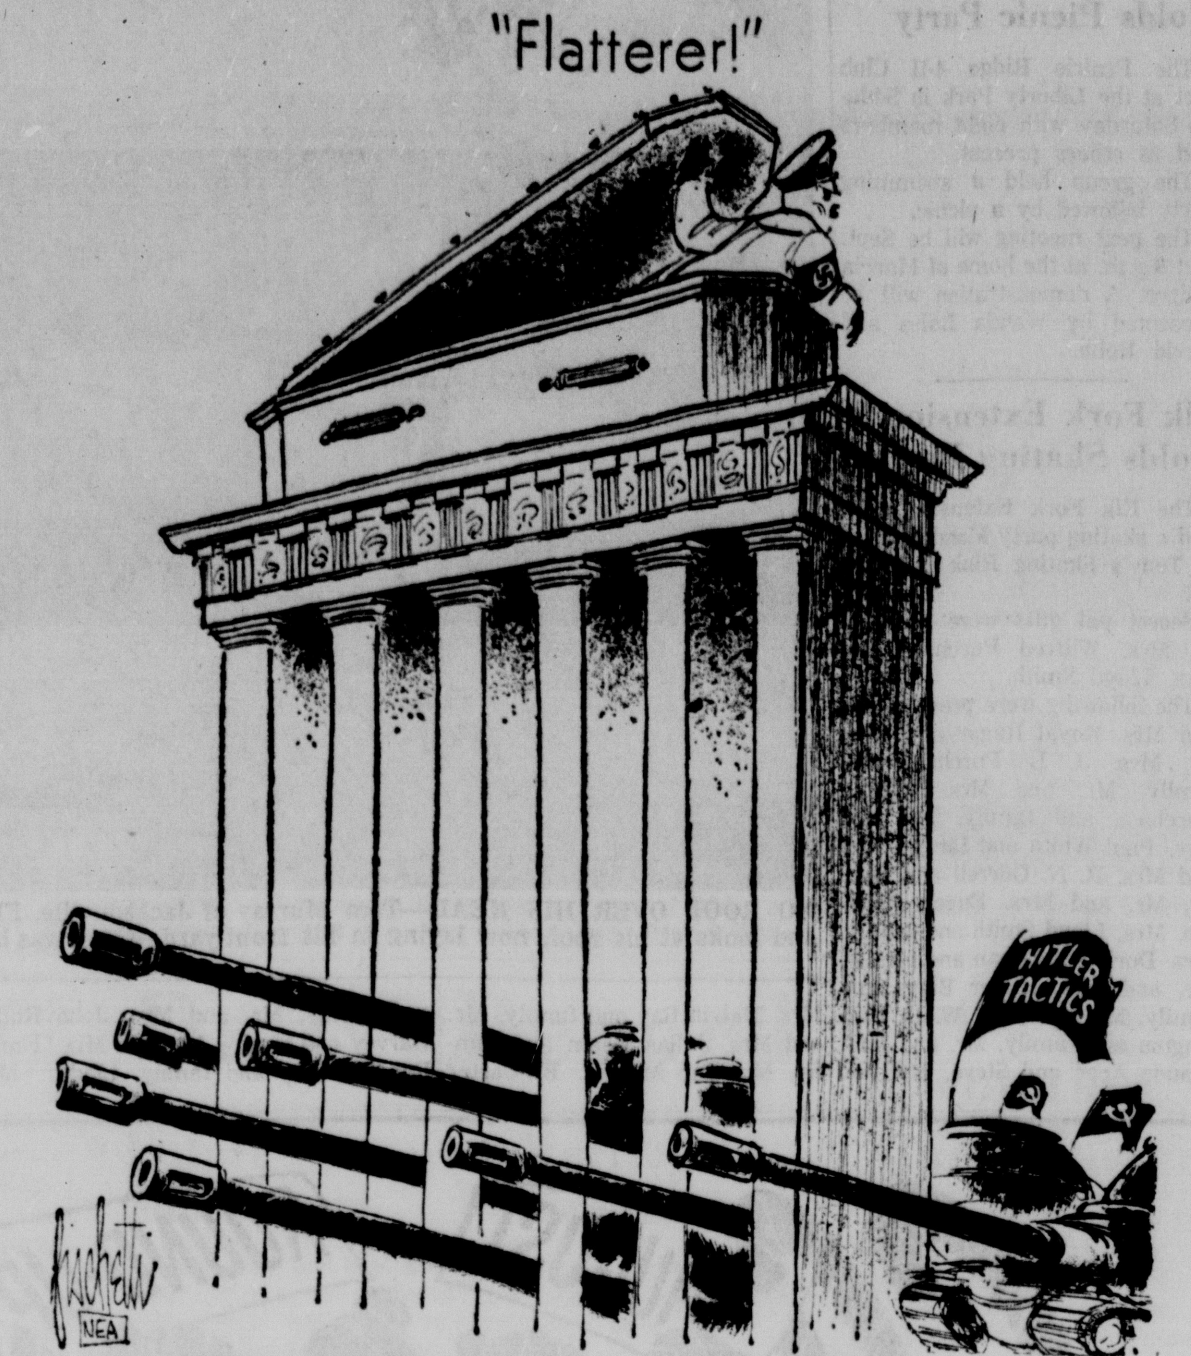

Irrigation Economics

In this country's wide western spaces, the Bureau of Reclamation's irrigation projects seldom need explanation. But they have a pretty remote sound to millions of people in U.S. cities.

Some recent calculations suggest, however, that irrigation developments bring definite benefit to the urban centers.

Government studies disclosed that 1,000 acres of newly irrigated land mean 13 "farming opportunities" supporting nearly 50 farm persons and producing an average $140,000 in crops each year.

With total investment in property, machinery, equipment and supplies coming to about $425,000, it is figured the 1,000 acres provide 66 new jobs supporting 163 people in city areas.

The World Today

Nikita Catches the West Flatfooted

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev apparently caught the Western Allies flatfootedly unprepared when over the weekend he suddenly sealed off East Berlin by stopping the flight of East Germans to West Berlin.

This is indicated by Washington stories these last few days on conferences among representatives of the Big Four Western Allies — United States, Britain, France, West Germany.

At first they agreed countermeasures would have to be taken. And in West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer talked of cancellation of trade agreements with Communist East Germany.

The Reds responded fast with a threat to shut off Berlin from the West altogether. The two Berlins—East and West—lie 110 miles inside Communist East Germany. This seemed to cool off Adenauer. And by Wednesday the same representatives of the four Western powers couldn't agree on what to do besides sending a note of protest to Moscow today.

Meanwhile, perhaps as a substitute for action, top U.S. officials labeled the Communist seal-off of East Berlin as a heavy Red defeat strengthening the West in the struggle over Germany.

At the moment this looks like wishful thinking. The fact that the Communists, who preach the wonders of their system, had to stop with guns the hordes of East Germans trying to get away from it makes good propaganda for the West.

But it's highly questionable that what has happened strengthens the West one bit in the struggle over Germany. The simple fact is that the Communists hold East Germany and East Berlin and the West shows no sign of trying to stop that.

The Allies have been planning for a showdown for months on Khrushchev's threat of last June to shake the Allies' links with West Berlin. But nothing shows they were prepared to cope with the surprise Khrushchev pulled in refusing to let East Germans cross over into West Berlin.

On Monday The Associated Press reported out of Washington that representatives of the Big Four Western Allies agreed "some sort of counter measures have to be taken" in retaliation. On Tuesday the AP reported: "A Western Big Four ambassadorial meeting to work on countermeasures was reported to have encountered a rift over what actions should be taken."

France were described as leaning toward only limited response for the present. The West German government said it would take its own countermeasures against the Communist clampdown."

On that same day—Tuesday — the AP reported out of Berlin that Adenauer was saying a Western embargo against the entire Soviet bloc was under consideration. And the AP added: "But informed sources said that Washington and London feared such a sweeping reprisal would bring on more drastic action like the 1948-49 blockade."

And sure enough: the East German Communist government, which wouldn't make such an important move without clearing it with Khrushchev, threatened to slam down a new blockade on all Berlin.

This must have chilled Adenauer. Or his Allies did since they'd be the ones who'd have to try to smash the blockade. He couldn't. On Wednesday, the AP reported him as saying the West German government would take no steps which could "worsen the international situation."

In Washington Wednesday night the AP reported on those Western representatives who only two days before were saying some sort of countermeasure was needed. The AP said: "The four Western Allies continue to search for a common ground on which to meet the Communist closing of the border between East and West Berlin. . . . No results were reported."

Bouquets and Brickbats From Column's Readers

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

"You have certainly caused a lot of dissension in our household by your statement that candy isn't harmful for the child with acne. I had just about gotten my teen-agers in pretty good shape, when one of their big-mouth mothers quoted you as a so-called 'authority.' Now my youngsters are back on candy and more pimply than ever."

Sorry, dear mother. I don't doubt your estimate of your children's complexion. But why blame candy? And why blame me?

You must know that it's characteristic of acne that it has its ups and its downs.

And since I issued my "authoritative reports," Drs. Cornbleet and Gigli, both specialists in dermatology, have tested the effects of sugar on the acne form eruption.

Fifteen youngsters with acne were permitted all the sugar they wanted to eat. Fifteen were put on a sugar-restricted diet. At the end of the observation period, "there was no difference in the results."

"I have multiple sclerosis and got my doctor to prescribe tolbutamide for me as you suggested. It's been an expensive suggestion. And I'm no better. Don't you think you should be more certain of a drug effect before recommending it to your readers?"

You have a point there, my friend. For, since the preliminary report of beneficial effects, controlled studies on a larger series of patients have failed to confirm the hopes and observations of the original investigator.

Nevertheless, I shall continue to provide advance notice for my readers whenever I come across what I consider helpful information from a reliable and honest source.

This does not include, I hasten to add, press releases from publicity departments of interested manufacturers.

U. S. Will Keep Guard Up Even If Berlin Crisis Ebbs

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — Even if the Berlin crisis can be settled without a war with the Russians, little prospect is being held here that all other international tensions will relax and that the extra expenses for U.S. defense build-ups can be curtailed.

Every statement on the Berlin situation made by President Kennedy at his last press conference indicated his hopes for a peaceful settlement by negotiation.

Russia's Nikita Khrushchev is making many statements which—taken by themselves and out of context—seem to have the same intent. But when his full remarks are studied, there is always a catch.

An example is his recent speech in which he insisted there would have to be negotiations with the East German government, which the United States and other western powers do not recognize.

It is for reasons such as this that any thought of returning to easier living is considered out of the question. Settlement of any one phase of the cold war will still leave other areas where trouble can break out and where guards must be kept up: Korea, Formosa, Southeast Asia, the Middle and Near East, all of Africa and finally South America as exemplified by Cuba. So plans are being made for continuing preparedness.

President Kennedy nevertheless has shown his serious interest in wanting to further disarmament efforts in several ways. He has proposed legislation to set up a much stronger disarmament agency in the State Department. He has sent Ambassador Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva to try again for an agreement with the Russians on nuclear test bans.

Previously, the President sent Ambassador John J. McCloy to confer with Khrushchev on disarmament. This actually resulted in an agreement from the Russians to resume talks in New York Sept. 5.

The report just made to him by a committee of scientists on the impossibility of detecting nuclear explosions has made the President feel that only the type of inspection proposed by the United States can guard against secret testing.

This inspection system will cost big money to set up and still more money to maintain. Even the inspection system proposed for conventional weapons disarmament will be expensive.

But the overriding item of continued government expense will be the need to maintain a constant alert against encroachments by Communist conspiracy all over the world.

President Kennedy has at no time referred to America's stepped-up defense efforts as a "mobilization." That is considered a scare word which might induce scare buying and other inflationary pressures.

There is plenty of concern already over the possibility of a new automobile industry labor contract which will increase wage levels and an increase in steel prices when previously negotiated wage hikes in that industry go into effect in October. Increased steel buying for national defense might touch off this latter start of a price spiral.

The desire to avoid government economic controls is manifest in present planning. But a relatively free economy can be maintained only if there is restraint in private business.

The full impact of the stepped-up defense effort on the U.S. economy will not be felt this year. The bill for next year will be higher and the inflationary pressure greater. There is little prospect, it will be less, even if the Berlin problem is settled without shooting.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE

BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

SOME DO GROW OLD
UNGRACEFULLY

DEAR ARTHUR: Why is it that so many senior citizens seem to think that growing older excuses bad manners? When I noticed this happening to my own mother, I began noticing other older people, too. Frankly, I was discouraged with what I observed. So many older people become abusive with waitresses, clerks, receptionists, etc.

I certainly don't want to grow old as ungracefully as those I have seen. I'm 43 now. Years ago, when I was a nurse, I excused all sorts of behavior because of illness, but what about senior citizens who are well? I refer to older men and women who expect to be catered to and who aren't pleasant when they don't get their own way.

Maybe a nudge from you would help older folks remember their manners.

FLORA

DEAR FLORA: Most of us tend to forget our manners when people neglect us. Your comments will be helpful, I'm sure, to many men and women of all ages.

Incidentally, you can soon expect detailed comments from so-called social arbiters as to proper behavior when dealing with senior citizens. However, politeness and consideration know no special age or set of manners.

DEAR ARTHUR: Do you have any motto or favorite saying?

MYRA

DEAR MYRA: I'm making a collection of favorite mottoes. Write me about yours in care of this paper. One of my favorites has fallen out of the public favor, but I still like it. I learned it as a child.

"Live for something and be not idle;

Look about thee for employ;

Sit not down to useless dreaming;

Labor is thy sweetest joy.

Beef Climbs Back to Top Market Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beef regains the top spot among weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores this week, although prices were a few cents a pound higher than last week in almost all sections of the country.

Pork—hams, rib ends, butts and shoulders—run beef a close second on the list of specials. Leg of lamb is among the special in some sections.

Fish specials are shrimp, scallop, smelts and flounder.

Egg prices are in a seasonal rise as production declines because of hot weather. Advances range up to eight cents a dozen.

New arrivals continue to reach the vegetable and fruit markets.

Best vegetable buys are beets, cabbage, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, romaine lettuce, peppers, Eastern potatoes, acorn, butter-nut and yellow straight neck squash and watercress.

Good buys include broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, endive, escarole, green onions, iceberg and Big Boston lettuce, mushrooms, okra, yellow medium onions, parsley, Western russet potatoes, radishes, green squash and tomatoes.

Best buys among fruits are watermelon, cantaloupe, honeydew melons, grapes, limes, nectarines and lemons.

Apples, blueberries, crenshaw melons, mangoes, peaches, pears, and small California oranges are good buys.

Says Planting Barley Would Reduce Erosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a means of preventing wind erosion, Rep. J. Floyd Breeding (D-Kan.) wants the government to permit farmers to plant barley this fall on land they've taken out of production under the feed grains program.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Breeding said:

"Farmers are not asking for authority to increase their acreage under the feed grain program. They simply want to plant winter barley this fall and cut down on grain sorghum plantings next year. It will even out."

"I see no reason for not permitting farmers to plant barley and reduce feed grain plantings. It will not increase feed grain production, nor will it increase the cost to the government."

Youth Spends Anxious Hours In Handcuffs

ROELAND PARK, Kan. (AP)—Home alone with nothing to do, 16-year-old Robert Rosander began toying with a pair of his father's handcuffs Wednesday.

Suddenly, one of the bracelets snapped shut around both wrists. He couldn't use the key. His hands were useless. Besides, the key was broken. Which was why his father, a federal immigration officer, had left his cuffs home in the first place.

Bob was forced to wait for an aunt to show up. She summoned police.

One patrolman's key wouldn't fit. He and another officer tried slipping the cuffs off. That didn't work either.

Commiserating neighbors dropped in and out, offering advice. It was embarrassing.

Finally, police took Bob to headquarters. Chief Lyle Martin fitted an entire ring of keys in the cuffs, key by key. Nothing.

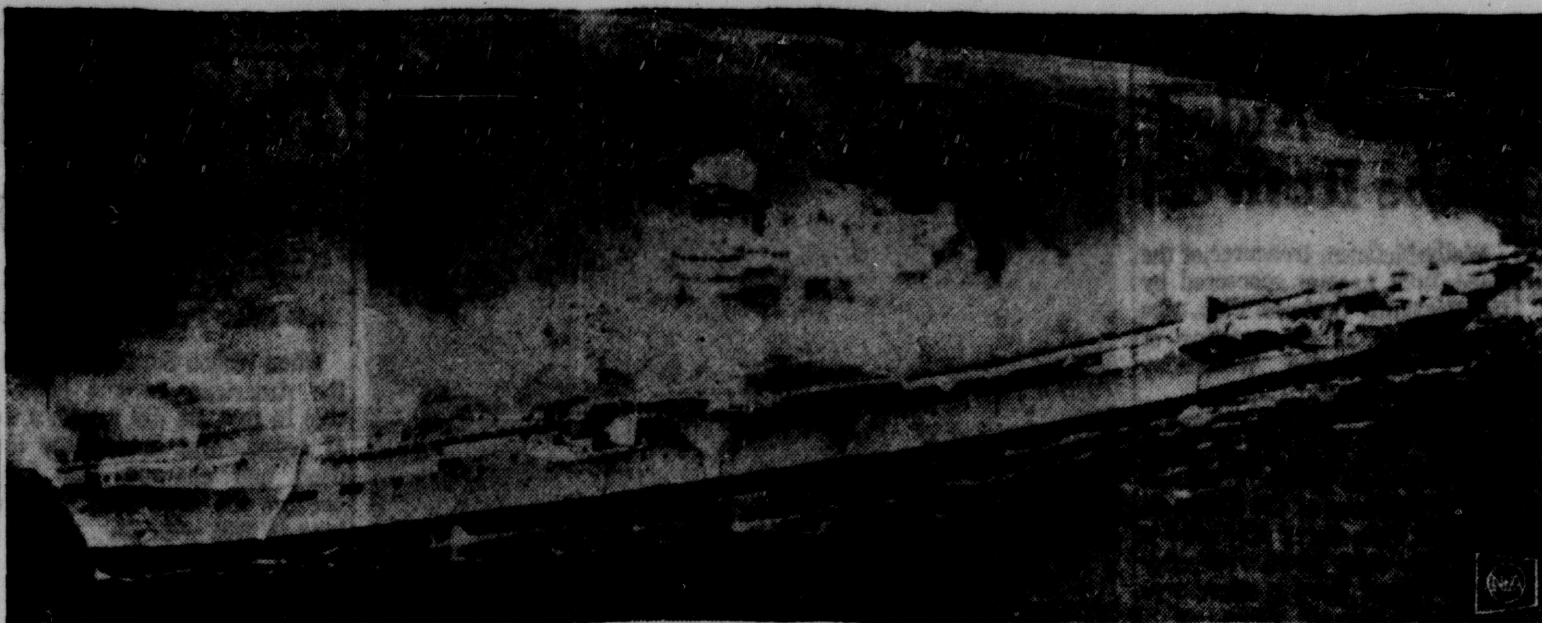

Then the first patrolman tried his key again. This time it worked.

US Drinks Popular At Jap Trade Fair

TOKYO (AP) — The perspiring Russian Trade Fair official eyed the refreshment stand in the shade of the towering portrait of Lenin inside the fair exhibition hall.

The stand was one of the busiest spots in the building, but it was selling American soft drinks. In the midst of Tokyo's humid summer weather, someone apparently had erred by not introducing Russian soft drinks to the Japanese.

Within hours after the Soviet Trade Fair opened Tuesday, hot, thirsty visitors had guzzled over 2,000 cold bottles of American beverages.

Electronic Brains Reduce Clerical Work to Minimum

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A big New York department store is using an electronic brain to cut down on data for the boss. It tells him not how all items are moving each day, but what merchandise is moving faster than expected and what is selling more slowly than it should. That's what he really needs to know to manage stocks and promotions.

A Dayton, Ohio, doctor uses a computer service center to prepare automatically statement accounts for patients along with records for himself of all services performed, all fees, payments made, and a list of patients to be seen again next month.

Schools in Cleveland, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Boston get from service centers a quick rundown on student registration, course scheduling, grade reporting, credit accumulation and student records. It leaves more time for teaching.

Taxpayers of an Illinois county have, thanks to an independent computer service center, itemized statements of their tax bills involving as many as 304 different taxing bodies. The statements show which ones a taxpayer contributes to and just how much of his total bill went for schools, water supply, roads, etc.

A Minneapolis company will get in 11 minutes a monthly production control computation, a process that formerly took three weeks.

These are some of the things the centers with their big machines point to when boasting they can profitably serve small as well as big enterprises.

Many service centers are run by the makers of the electronic wonders. Some are independent, buying or leasing their machines from the big makers. Most offer both the use of the machines and of programmers. These take the raw material—the facts and figures—from a company and turn it into data the computers can handle to produce the desired information.

One of the independents, Statistical Tabulating Corp., Chicago, with 14 centers from New York to Los Angeles, reports that a medium-sized insurance company which had expected to take 60 days to prepare a rate schedule for a new policy turned the problem over to STC programmers who did the job from scratch in 10 days.

STC says a manufacturer with

Explosion and Fire Claims Nine Lives

ALGIERS (AP)—Nine persons were killed and seven critically injured Wednesday in an explosion and fire in a pharmaceutical plant.

Officials believed the explosion was accidental, although with plastic bombs and grenades going off regularly in the area they said it may have been sabotage.

Problems don't have to be left to the nearest center. International Business Machines, with centers across the country, says it has sent 15,000 characters a second between widely spaced computers by using telephone cable, a Bell System microwave radio network, and IBM magnetic tape transmission units.

Public Flogging At LA

Reds Regain Lead With Series Sweep

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, knocked down and brushed off by the Los Angeles Dodgers as contenders in that National League pennant race, are back on top again after giving the Dodgers a public flogging that may have topped anything since the witch trials of Salem.

Right in the Dodgers' own ball yard, and in front of the largest (72,140) night crowd in NL history, the Reds made off with a sweep of the three-game show-down by drubbing Los Angeles 6-0 and 8-0 Wednesday night.

The Dodgers, who have been firing knockdown pitches at the

Athletics Drub Twins; Cardinals Lose to Frisco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry Lumpe drove in four runs as the Kansas City Athletics walloped the Minnesota Twins 12-7 at Minneapolis-St. Paul Wednesday night.

Jerry sent in one run with a single in the third inning, one on a fielders' choice in the seventh and two on a double in the eighth. The Giants beat the Cardinals 4-3 at San Francisco.

Deron Johnson hit a home run, a double and a single in four at bats. His homer in the second inning gave the A's a lead they never lost.

Gene Stephens hit a bases-loaded triple.

Starter Norm Bass was awarded the victory even though he was driven out in the seventh when the twins scored four runs, three on Bob Allison's home run. Bill Fisher preserved Bass' seventh victory.

The St. Louis Cardinals succumbed to the Giants Wednesday in spite of a two-run homer by veteran Stan Musial.

Two-run homers by Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou provided the victory margin.

Alou, whose 12th homer made it 4-0 in the sixth, played only because his kid brother had a strained muscle. Matty Alou had been scheduled to start but Manager Alvin Dark switched to Felipe as he didn't want to risk further injury to Matty.

The Cards loaded the bases in the fourth but couldn't score.

Winner Jack Sanford (9-6) had retired 10 straight batters coming into the eighth when Giant catcher John Orsino allowed Red Schoendienst' pop foul to drop untouched. Red then doubled, Bill White singled him in and Musial homered.

Three of four Lions teams were in the top bracket, with Lions "A" winning the City "A" Championship.

Jayhawks Favored

LAWRENCE (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks are favored by area sportswriters and sportscasters to win the Big Eight football championship this fall.

Kansas got 81½ first-place votes against 11 for Oklahoma. Missouri had 8½, Colorado 2 and Iowa State 1. There were no first-place ballots for Nebraska, Oklahoma State and Kansas State.

The annual poll was conducted by the University of Kansas athletic publicity department. A record total of 104 ballots were mailed back marked.

Nu-Way Ties Cole-Cooper In Rod, Gun Club

The Nu-Way Cafe trap shooting team has come a long way in the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club trap shoot league since the first of the season to tie with the Cole-Cooper team for first place. Both teams, at the end of the Wednesday night shoot, stood 1,160 points each.

The race is narrowing down to a point where any team might jump to the top. Connor-Wagoner is being pushed in second place by Cecil's TV by one point. Connor-Wagoner has 1,133 and Cecil's 1,132. But that is not all. Bing's No. 2 is shoving along with 1,131 for fourth spot.

Ozark Feed is fifth with 1,123 followed by Pepsi Cola with 1,115; Bing's No. 1 seventh with 1,110; Broadway Lanes in eighth position with 1,102 and the B and J Gun and Radio is in the cellar with 999.

Two more shoots are to come before the league closes for 1961. Bernard Dove, Green Ridge, won the Derby, followed by Vernon Arnett, also of Green Ridge, while Bob Dalton, Versailles and Dick Cole, Sedalia, tied for third. The Junior League for youngsters broke 19 out of a possible 70 pigeons. Their coaches declare it is good for the beginners.

Hidden Ball Trick Catches Outfielder

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)

—Kansas City clobbered Minnesota 12-7 Wednesday night, but one Athletics' player may have learned a valuable lesson.

Veteran outfielder Gene Stephens was caught on one of baseball's oldest traps—the hidden ball trick.

Stephens was on second base with one out in the ninth inning when Minnesota second baseman Billy Martin approached the bag and told Stephens he wanted to kick some dirt off the bag.

"When I put the tag on him," recalled Martin, "Stephens was dumbfounded."

"I felt kind of bad after I did it, but I think it taught Stephens a valuable lesson."

Stephens had nothing to say.

Cites Work Which Aided Babe Ruth's

Wally McCown, treasurer of the Babe Ruth League sponsored by the Breakfast Optimist Club, was the speaker at the meeting of that organization Wednesday morning at Pacific Cafe.

The Babe Ruth organization has officers who have given much time and effort to the league and all are members of the Breakfast Optimist Club. Larry Matthews is president; John Mais, vice-president; Roland Cooper, secretary; and Wally McCown, treasurer.

McCown explained that they set up rules and secured Wes Sanders, Skip Schultz and Earl Finley as umpires, Lee Garrison, is commissioner and Al Hall, player agent.

There was a great deal of work from the very start, McCown said. There were physical examinations and cards. The boys went out for try-outs and managers and coaches of the seven teams looked them over. Then there was the auction with everybody starting with 30,000 points and they bid for players. 10,000 points is added each year which they use with the points they have left over from the previous year to bid on players.

In order to make a success of anything there must be money. So Matthews and McCown checked the point about developing a Women's Auxiliary and had a meeting with mothers of the boys. They set up a corporation and elected officers.

Membership cards were sold and this was very successful. For anyone who didn't have a membership card they could put there for a quarter in a bucket put there for that purpose.

An auction was held with all the money to go into the Babe Ruth program except $50 which will be kept by the auxiliary to start on next year. The sponsors pay $165 a year but that doesn't carry the league, McCown said. There was insurance, fees and pay for the scorekeeper, umpires and use of the park.

McCown said that the people of the town had really given assistance in many ways and that the Women's Auxiliary was one of the best things that had happened to Babe Ruth.

The meeting was presided over by Cliff Barr, president. Invocation was given by Dr. R. M. Stonner. Gerald Cecil led the singing with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

A's Owner May Be Considering Dallas Transfer

KANSAS CITY — Owner Charles Finley of the Athletics, said to be discouraged by his team's poor showing in his first American League season, may be considering a transfer of the franchise to Dallas, the Kansas City Star said Wednesday night.

Finley could not be reached for comment. Star sports editor Ernest Mehl said there are rumors that Finley has made some contacts in Dallas. The report was discounted in Kansas City and Dallas.

"The A's have discussed this discreetly among themselves and the owner is said to have asked one of them for his opinion of such a move," said Mehl.

The A's operate under a Municipal Stadium lease that gives the owner the option to move if ticket sales fail to reach $50,000 for a season. Kansas City, 10th in the standings, have drawn only 470,000.

Before he could move the A's, Finley would have to win league permission.

Pitching—Bob Purkey and Jim O'Toole, Reds, handed Dodgers first doubleheader shutout since 1935. Purkey with four-hitter in opener and O'Toole with two-hitter in second game, for 6-0 and 8-0 sweep that put Reds back in first place.
Hitting—Roger Maris, Yankees, drove in four runs with 4th and 4th homers while going 3-for-4 in 5-4 victory over White Sox.

EYES AND HANDS—Here are the eyes and batting grips of Roger Maris, top, and Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees threatening Babe Ruth's seasonal home run record of 60. Mantle naturally switches the position of his hands when batting from the left side of the plate.

Democrat-Capital SPORTS

Roger Maris Is Known As 'Angry Man'

NEW YORK — Roger Maris is known as "the angry man." Even his own teammates among the New York Yankees refer to him, on occasions, as "the red-necked Roger."

The man who today has the best chance of anybody in baseball history to shatter Babe Ruth's most fantastic of all home-run records—60 in one season—admits he is not the easiest person in the world to get along with.

"I was born surly," he says through thin lips that always seem to be snarling, "and I'm going to stay that way."

"Everything is tough in life," Maris, 26, adds.

A reticent man by nature, Maris has found it extremely difficult to cope with this comparatively sudden fame that has stemmed from his dramatic battle with teammate Mickey Mantle in their twin assault on Ruth's 1927 record. A lover of solitude, Roger finds the almost daily questioning by reporters, radio and TV commentators extremely trying.

"You fellows are tougher than some of those pitchers," he once said testily. "Where do you think you're going to get? How the heck do I know whether I'll break Babe Ruth's record? Besides, you're the only guys thinking about it. I don't. All I'm interested in is having a good season and winning the pennant."

"I'd rather have the dough than the record. And if I have a real good season, I'm going to ask for real dough next year, too."

For the record, Maris' 1961 salary is $32,500. Next year, it is expected, he will demand around $75,000. Mantle's estimated earnings this year.

Maris currently is three homers ahead of Mantle. He slammed two Wednesday to boost his total to 48 in 119 Yankee games, including a tie. That puts him 15 games ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace. Maris has 36 games left in which to top Ruth's mark for 154 games.

Roger will have the advantage, however, of eight more contests because of the expansion of the American League schedule to 162 games.

Wednesday had to be one of Maris' most satisfying games, not so much because he slammed two homers to give him the record-tying seven in six games, but because both of his four-baggers came off a left-hander, Billy Pierce of Chicago.

Up to now most experts have leaned toward Mantle as having the better chance for Ruth's record, largely because of Maris' inability to hit southpaw pitching. Maris does not agree with that.

"I was always able to hit left-handed pitching," said the left-handed slugger, "that is, until last year. That was because I didn't see enough of that kind of pitching. Now that they're using more southpaws against us, I'm getting used to it."

In general, the public would not like to see Ruth's record broken. Most people, however,

Patterson, Van Dyne Lose In H of A Meet

Vic Van Dyne and Charles Patterson, who Tuesday won their first match in the first annual Heart of American Four-ball golf tournament at the Blue Hills Country club in Kansas City, Wednesday lost their match 4 and 3.

The loss came during an 18-hole match, and sent Van Dyne and Patterson back to Sedalia. They were defeated by Don Smith and Joe Bauer, of Blue Hills.

Trapshooters Start Trek To Meet In Ohio

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Trapshooters by the hundreds started their annual trek today to this quiet Miami Valley community.

The 62nd Grand American Trapshoot opens its preliminary firing stage Friday along a half-mile trapline, and the scattergun artists were coming in from everywhere.

Three days of tuneup firing lead into Monday's championship races which continue through Saturday, Aug. 26. The big barrage, offering around a quarter-million dollars in various cash prizes, figures to attract about 3,000 gun pointers.

They'll fire at least 1½ million 12-gauge shotgun shells as they zoom through the 1,000-target championship program. Titles will be decided at 16-year days, handicaps and doubles — for sub-juniors, juniors, men, women, professionals, husband-wife, brother-brother and seniors.

feel that if someone must break it, the fellow most entitled is Mantle because of his greater stature as a slugger and home run hitter. Maris, however, is no Johnny come lately as a home run producer. He slammed 39 last year, to finish second to Mantle's 40. In three previous years, with Cleveland and Kansas City, he walloped 14, 28 and 16.

Of Austrian-German extraction, Maris was born in Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10, 1934. Heavily muscled, six feet and 190 pounds, Roger originally hoped to play professional football. In fact, he was offered a football scholarship at Oklahoma University after he graduated high school, but the lure of a baseball bonus by the Cleveland organization was too strong. He began his professional career with Fargo-Moorhead of the Northern League in 1952 and advanced to the major leagues, with the Indians, in four years.

Associated Press Sports Writer

When Wahoo Sam Crawford won the American League home-run title in 1908, he did it with a total of seven. And among the other dead ball champs, Nap Lajoie became the AL's first home run king in 1901 with 13.

Now Roger Maris, gunning for gold, glory and Babe Ruth's 60, suddenly has spurred his pursuit with seven home runs—matching Crawford's season total—in six consecutive games, and needs just 13 more—Lajoie's title total—to crack the Babe's long elusive record of 1927.

With his pair of two-run shots off southpaw Billy Pierce as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-4 Wednesday on the 13th anniversary of Ruth's death, Maris now has hit 48 and has moved 15 games ahead of the Babe's record pace.

While the Yankees have played 119 games, one was a tie and doesn't count toward the 154-game limit on an unchallenged home-run record set by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. The ruling was made to equalize the AL's present 162-game schedule with the 154-game schedule that was in use until this year's expansion to 10 teams.

That means Maris has 36 games (decisions) in which to hit his record-busting 13. That averages out to one every 2.8 games.

As for the almost forgotten pennant race, New York moved three games ahead of second-place Detroit when the Tigers lost 8-2 to Baltimore. Cleveland defeated Boston 6-4, Washington beat Los Angeles 3-2, and Kansas City thumped Minnesota 12-7.

In the National League, Cincinnati shot past Los Angeles into a one-game lead by sweeping a two-night pair from the Dodgers 6-0 and 8-0. San Francisco defeated St. Louis 4-3, Milwaukee kept past Pittsburgh 2-1, and the Chicago Cubs handed the Philadelphia Phillies their 19th consecutive loss, 9-5, tying the modern NL record.

Despite Maris' slugging, it was by a hit batter with the bases loaded in the ninth that the Yankees beat the White Sox. After Jim Landis' second home run had

Hayward Faces Judy Torluemke In Semi-finals

SEATTLE (AP) — Mary Lowell of Hayward, Calif., who had to rally on the second nine for a victory in Wednesday's quarterfinals, faced Missouri Women's champion Judy Torluemke today in the semifinal round of the National Junior Girls' Golf Championship.

The other 18-hole match pitted Margaret Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, against Jeannie Thompson of Tulsa, Okla. Jeannie, a high school senior, is 16; the others are 17.

Cracking par by two strokes with a 34 on the first nine of her match Wednesday, Miss Lowell erased Jeanie Butler of Harlingen, Tex., 2 and 1. In the afternoon, however, she was 1 down to Kathryn Farrer of Decatur, Ala., after nine holes.

From there on she was only one over par, winning on the 16th, 3 and 2.

Eureka Seeded First In Non-Pro Tourney

WICHITA (AP) — Eureka, the California champion, has been seeded No. 1 team in the National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament.

The action starts in Wichita Friday night and will continue about three weeks on a double elimination schedule.

The opening games pit Ogallala, Neb., against Denver at 5:30 p.m. and Jefferson City against Wichita at 9.

Seeded into the top 10 behind Eureka were Grand Rapids, Mich., Ponchaoutla, La., Gibson, Fla., Wichita, Macon, Ga., Cherokee, Okla., Seguin, Tex., Ann Arbor, Mich., and Greensboro N.C.

Grand Rapids beat out Ponchaoutla for the 1960 championship and Gibson was third.

tied it for the Sox in the sixth, the winning run was forced home when Warren Hacker plunked Bob Cerv on the hand with a pitch. That gave the victory to Ralph Terry (9-1) and beat Turk Lown (6-5), both working in relief. Jackie Brandt, Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile backed Milt Pappas (9-6) with home runs as the young Baltimore right-hander stopped the Tigers on two hits. All three homers were off Jim Bunning (14-9), who hadn't thrown a gopher ball in 2-3 innings.

Given Good Chance For Zone Finals

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The same Mexican tennis team that almost upset the American Davis Cup squad last year is given a good chance to win the American zone finals, which start Friday.

Observers watching the Mexican players practice here since Tuesday say they appear to have a fine edge. But they quickly point out the American team, slightly erratic earlier in the week, is much sharper now.

At noon today American Capt. David Freed and his Mexican counterpart, Francisco (Pancho) Contreras, hold the official draw to decide opponents in the singles play on the clay courts at the Cleveland Skating Club.

Their choices were not disclosed, but indications were Bernard (Tut) Bartenz, a master craftsman on clay, and Chuck McKinley would be used in the

Jay North's Cowlick Is Artificial

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To Jay North, 9, star of "Dennis the Menace," the good shows in his TV series are those for which he wears a hat. The bad shows are those for which he wears a manufactured cowlick—and no hat.

This week's shooting of a new episode constitutes, for Jay, a good show. Most of the time he has performed with a cowboy's six-shooter buckled about his waist and—most important—a 10-gallon—really, about 10-pint—hat pulled over his hair.

Jay has a cowlick problem in reverse. "Dennis" is adapted from a comic-strip character, and the cartoon original is a small blond boy in overalls overalls with a cowlick in the back of his head. Jay lacks a natural cowlick, so one must be made for him.

It's done with wave-set lotion, and the studio hairdresser takes a long time each morning getting the lock to stand up in a carefully casual way.

"Then she has to keep working on it all day," said Jay, wrinkling his small nose in distaste. "About 27 times a day. But this week we don't have to go through it because I wear this hat."

The studio building where "Dennis" is filmed has been equipped for child actors. In one corner are two half-size make-up tables for Jay and the youngsters who play his pals.

Most grown-up extras, with no lines to study, read or play cards between shots. For the children the literature is a studio-supplied pile of comic books. And I also spotted on the "Dennis" set a group of four very young actors—two girls and two boys—playing cards on a packing box. Fully expecting to see a torrid session of draw poker or black jack, I was much relieved to find they were playing a game they call "War." When we played it as kids we called it "Battle."

Jay, of course, has little time to hang around. He has to learn lines, rehearse and study school lessons. Usually he is at the studio four or five times a week. What does he do on weekends?

"Well, if I know my lines, I just play an awful lot," he explained, "and fool around in my swimming pool."

When a popular program leaves a network, viewers soon lose track of the performers. Remember George De Witt of "Name That Tune?" and Mike Stokely, whose "Pantomime Quiz" used to be an annual summer replacement? And Robert Q. Lewis of "The Name's the Same?"

They are all here in Los Angeles—broadcasting on local stations. De Witt and Stokely are hosts on game shows. Lewis has just started a disc-jockey program.

So far, the brightest spot of summer viewing has been the Larry Blyden-Shari Lewis comedy "Watching Out for Dulie," on CBS last month. Most disappointing are NBC's "Great Ghost Stories" series and the shape its remodeled "Today" show is taking under new management—news, jazz music and heavy-handed persiflage—really a televised radio program.

Rotary, Jaycees Vie Tonight For 'B' Championship

Rotary and Jaycees will play the final game for the City "B" League Championship tonight at 6:30 at Housel Park.

These two teams gained a berth in the finals after winning in last night's activity of the "B" single elimination tournament. In the first game it was Rotary over Post 16 by a 12-6 score. Wanserski took credit for the win, and Cook was the loser.

Jaycees dropped Moose 9-7 in the second game at Housel Park. Hudson was the winning pitcher, and Garrett was given the loss.

Tonight's championship game will conclude this season's Little League activity.

Maris Homers Cause Break In Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate was in full debate on foreign aid when it was interrupted for "an important announcement."

The announcement came from Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., who in proud tones Wednesday advised his colleagues: "Roger Maris, a North Dakota farm-raised boy, hit two more home runs today. We expect him to break the world's record by quite a few."

Young sat down, beaming.

The Senate went back to work on foreign aid.

Maris, a New York Yankee with 48 homers, is running ahead of Babe Ruth's record homerun pace.

Win Second Match In Heart of America

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Don Carter and Ken Lanning, behind by a hole on the 12th, went ahead on the 16th to win their second-round match Wednesday in the Heart of America golf tournament.

Two highly-regarded Kansas City twosomes were upset by fellow townsmen.

Bill Wolak and Mike Phillips defeated George Sinderson and Irl Oliver, and Bill Hesler and Charles Lyon ousted Jack House and Red Hogan, both by 1-up.

Carter, from St. Louis, and Lanning, of Rolla, are the medalists and pre-tournament favorites.

Seek Escapee From Jail In Worth County

GRANT CITY, Mo. (AP)—A 30-year-old man escaped from the Worth County jail in Grant City Wednesday night and was sought in a corn field near Hopkins, Mo., today.

He was identified as Richard Loraine Cleaver, Minneapolis, Minn., who was being held for breaking and entering.

Hopkins is about 20 miles northwest of Grant City, near the Missouri-Iowa line.

Officers said the fugitive was believed to have stolen two vehicles before fleeing on foot into the corn field on the Dale Weland farm. A jeep was taken from near Grant City and a Chevrolet was stolen from a yard in Hopkins.

Countries must be ready to institute social reforms needed to mobilize their own resources to get American foreign aid.

Allan Loreu, director of the U.S. operations mission in Ethiopia, said in the future countries cannot expect American help unless they show "responsiveness to the vital, political and social concerns of their people and demonstrate willingness to take effective self-help measures."

New Actress Compared To Liz, Grace

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Supposing a girl reminds producers of a combination Liz Taylor-Grace Kelly. Is that good?

Dolores Faith shakes her lovely head.

You might take a look at her and disagree. In fact, you'll probably take a second look. Most people do.

"I suppose it's only natural to be compared," says Dolores. "People need a point of reference. But I still want to make it on my own."

She's making it. The doll has been jumping up the scale from bits to a lead in "Wild Harvest," taken from Stephen Longstreet's novel. But she admitted that resemblance has sometimes held her back.

"There was the time I tried out for a contract at Warner Bros.," she recalled. "They told me I was a combination of Elizabeth Taylor and Grace Kelly and they wouldn't know what to do with me."

Still, she shows remarkable composure for a girl of 19. You get a notion why when you view her childhood.

She was born Dolores Faith Hedges in Cleveland, Ohio. Her father was of Hungarian descent, and her mother was Italian, which is quite a combination. At 4, Dolores was stricken totally deaf.

"My eardrums burst while I was playing one day," she said. "The doctors couldn't really account for it. For six months I could hear absolutely nothing. Then I could hear a little as the eardrums began to heal. But my hearing never returned completely until I was 9."

"At first I had a private teacher. Then I was able to go to public school, sitting in the front seat so I could hear the teacher. I suppose those years had something to do with my wanting to be an actress. I withdrew into myself. It's not easy for a child to be different from the other kids; they called me 'dummy' and made fun of me."

The years of deafness also left her with a lisp. She rid herself of it only a year ago with such exercises as talking with a pencil in her teeth.

She got her acting start as many newcomers do nowadays—as witness on the court shows (divorce, youth, traffic, etc.) which abound on local T.V. Now she's on her way and looks hopefully to the time when newcomers will be called "another Dolores Faith."

Elect New Officers

The farmers of the Salt Pond township met Thursday in Sweet Springs City Hall. The ASC Community committee election was held and the following were elected.

Chairman, Herbert Buesing; vice chairman, Raymond Trautman; member, Roy Fangmann; first alternate, Carl Bushmann; and second alternate, Harry Langwisch.

Fight Against Poor Education

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro today mobilized 30,000 workers to join teachers and students in his anti-illiteracy campaign in Cuba.

The workers will go into Cuba's countryside, teaching peasants and farmers to read and write.

He said that of more than one million Cubans who cannot read or write, nearly half are learning or have learned since the campaign began this year.

Castro has set a goal of eradicating illiteracy by the end of 1961.

Castro spoke at a meeting of the Cuban Confederation of Workers, which has taken part in the campaign. The televised speech was monitored here.

Babe Ruth Auxiliary Will Hold Election

The Babe Ruth Women's Auxiliary, organized for the first time this year, will elect officers at 7 p. m. Thursday in the Community Room in the basement of the First State Savings Building.

The auxiliary is made up of mothers of boys already in Babe Ruth baseball and those who will be coming in next year. Babe Ruth ball is for boys 14 and over and it is necessary that the mothers of boys coming on this next year, take over the leadership as most of the mothers who have steered the organization through its first year will not have boys playing Babe Ruth ball next year.

Opera City Blown Down In a Storm

VERONA, ITALY — (AP) — The whole cardboard city of Seville collapsed here early today in a terrific windstorm, causing one death and scattering 15,000 opera spectators in panic.

The storm's 40-mile winds and torrential downpour struck just after midnight during the final scene of an outdoor presentation of Bizet's "Carmen" in Verona's old Roman Arena.

Thousands of spectators, including Americans and other tourists, packed the stone seats, enthralled as tenor Franco Corelli and mezzo-soprano Giulietta Simonato hit the high notes of their final duet.

Then the wind rose, drowning out the singers and the orchestra. The cardboard towers and building fronts strung across the stage began to rip loose.

The cast of 150 and the orchestra fled only moments before the whole stage setting collapsed with a roar. One Italian singer in the chorus was injured slightly.

As the downpour began, the audience fled. In the stampede, a Swiss tourist collapsed with a heart attack. He died in an ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Appeals Court Turns Back Judgment Grant

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The Springfield Court of Appeals ruled in effect Wednesday that members of a cooperative should not sit on a jury considering a case involving the co-op to which they belong.

A. P. Stone Jr., presiding judge, said he believed this was the first time the issue had been raised in a Missouri appellate court.

Specifically, the court reversed a circuit court jury judgment of Ozark Border Electric Cooperative of Poplar Bluff.

The co-op filed suit for fulfillment of contract against Bill and Glendon Stacey, also of Poplar Bluff.

A new trial was ordered.

1,300 Fires Traced To Lightning Bolts

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—About 1,300 forest fires—all small—have broken out in the Pacific Northwest in recent days, touched off by lightning, the Forest Service reported Wednesday.

It said there undoubtedly are additional "sleeper" fires—which cannot be detected immediately but which might take off if wind comes.

The rash of fires is the worst of the season, it reported.

Some 1,000 of the fires are in Washington, Oregon and California, the Forest Service said, while there are 300 in Idaho and Western Montana.

Owner of Lion Sentenced To 30 Days Labor

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard E. Flynn, charged twice with harboring a wild animal in the city, has been sentenced to 30 days in the City Workhouse.

In pronouncing sentence on Flynn Wednesday, Magistrate Louis A. Cioffi denounced him as a publicity hound.

"Since he wants publicity," said Cioffi, "he'll get it, but he'll have to spend 30 days in the workhouse for it."

Flynn had pleaded guilty but contended his lion cub, 160-pound King Kado, was harmless. The lion, now in Central Park Zoo, was found first in Flynn's car in a parking lot and again in Flynn's auto—parked in a midcity garage.

Flynn, 47, is from St. Louis, Mo.

To Resist or Obey

East Germany's Christians Face Tough Theology Issue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Christians of Communist East Germany are struggling today with a tough issue of theology: Should they resist the government or obey?

Some church leaders have advocated defiance.

Others have counseled obedience, to a point.

The question has been smoldering in German church life for two years. With tensions mounting over Berlin, it has become a blazing undercurrent, recent events show.

Also at issue is whether the Easterners should stick to their homes and churches, or try to flee.

Seeking to allay the doubts, Germany's United Lutheran Church has issued an advisory saying East German Christians should stay where they are, avoid open political resistance, but not support the regime.

The church includes congregations on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Romans 13:1, of Saint Paul's epistles, was cited as prescribing civil law-abiding, even in a police state. The verse says: "Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. Therefore he who resists the authorities resists what God has appointed."

It is this passage that has stirred the theological soul searching, as well as some sharp conflicts among German Christian leaders.

Bishop Otto Dibelius of Berlin, 81, the doughty Christian warrior who retired last spring as head of the Evangelical Church in Germany, previously ignited the fuse by saying the East German regime didn't qualify as a God-ordained authority.

It is "blasphemy to regard the rulers of a totalitarian state as powers" in a Biblical sense, he said. "Paul's words are set aside."

Even an East German traffic sign has "no binding power for Christians," said the bishop, who had hurled similar challenges at nazism. To him such regimes are in the class of the "beast" government of Revelations 13.

A church furor erupted about the matter.

The bishop, since barred from the Communist Eastern Sector of his Berlin diocese, was disputed even by the managing board of his own church, which said: "The obedience required of us by Holy writ in respect to governmental authority applies also to the governments presently existing today."

Dr. Kurt Scharf, an East Berlin theologian who succeeded Bishop Dibelius as head of the Evangelical Council, has taken a similar approach but says the church faces a critical situation, which must be solved.

Germany's United Lutheran Church, in trying to give some stabilizing guidance, said the Eastern Christian "can only accept the fact that he lives in an atheistic state and put up with it; but he must never approve or support it."

"In all cases of conflict between the state's demands and God's orders, God's word remains valid that one must obey God rather than men," the statement said.

This mandate, to "obey God rather than men," was St. Peter's reply when hailed before the Sanhedrin and ordered to quit preaching about Jesus Christ.

Bishop Hanns Lilje of Hannover, head of the United Lutheran Church, at first took a more moderate position than Bishop Dibelius but recently has indicated he sees no room for getting along with the East regime.

Asked on a recent television show if Christians in the East Zone of his church should actively oppose their government, he said: "I do not wish to endanger my brothers over there by simply saying 'yes'. But that is what I think."

Bishop Dibelius, expected to retire from his diocesan post this fall and whose departure from his churchwide leadership apparently was hastened by the clash over Christian conduct under communism, said as he stepped down: "I beg the church never to surrender to the powers of this world. I pray for all who hold office in the church that their courage may not fail."

"AND SPEARS INTO PRUNING HOOKS"—Now that men no longer have any use for it, a bird has taken over this cannon at the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military Park near Chattanooga, Tenn. A century after the gun's last echo in the Civil War, the nest might well belong to a dove of peace at the nation's oldest and largest military park.

Moniteau County Girls Participate In 4-H Revue

Forty-seven Moniteau County girls enrolled in Clothing projects participated in the annual 4-H Revue which was held at the California High School last Tuesday evening. This is the second year for this event. Up until last year, the 4-H girls modeled their dresses at the County Achievement Day, and the public usually did not avail itself of the opportunity of seeing what the 4-H girls had done.

Mrs. William F. Niederjohn, California, presented the girls, using the four seasons of the year for the presentation. Raymond G. Peck, also of California, furnished the background music for the entire show. The Twin City Garden Club, under the leadership of Mrs. F. E. Oesterly, and assisted by Mrs. Walter Wolfe, Mrs. L. J. Wittenberger and Mrs. E. M. Bishop, prepared flower arrangements to depict the four seasons of the year—spring, summer, fall and winter. Mrs. Ed Glaser, Jefferson City, was the judge of the style show. All garments were judged for construction of the girls, then at a pre-dress revue session, Mrs. Glaser judged the girls according to the way they modeled their garments.

The girls are divided into two groups—girls under 14, and girls over 14. One representative is chosen in each of the groups to represent the County at the District 4-H Achievement Day. Then two alternates are also named in each of the divisions. Winners this year to represent the County were: Carolyn Stoeklein in the under 14 age group, with Leslie McKee of Moniteau Valley, and Patty Fisher of Clover Club as alternates. In the over 14 age group, Carole Calhoun of the Red Brush 4-H Club, was named as the winner with Ruth Elminger of the Tipton 4-H Club as first alternate and Carolyn K. Allee as second alternate.

The girls participating in the Revue and the ribbons which they won are as follows: Under 14. Blue ribbon winners: Sandra Baer, Sarah Bower, Sue Bower and Karen Wood, Wonder Workers 4-H Club; Andrea Yoest and Carolyn Stoeklein, Flying Eagles 4-H Club; Patty Fisher, Margaret Ann Fisher, Sue Bet Bucker, Sharon Rohrbach, Roseann Rohrbach, Dianne Kilgore and Rhonda Kueffer, Clover 4-H Club; Barbara Schmitt, Tipton; Sue Ann Haldiman and Leslie Ann McKee, Moniteau Valley 4-H Club; and Julie Koerkenmeier, Busy Bees 4-H Club.

Under 14. Red ribbon winners: Delores Yoest, Maureen Knipp and Kathy Schuster, Flying Eagles 4-H Club; Judy Schmitt, Phyllis Wolf, Tipton 4-H Club; Marilyn Barnhart, Rainbow Workers 4-H Club; Susan Edwards, Sunshine 4-H Club; Georgia Kleithernes, and Debby Bestgen, Busy Bees 4-H Club; Debbie Hughes, Clover 4-H Club.

Collie Dog Honored For Heroic Feat

CHICAGO (AP)—Duke, 5, a collie, today sports a gold medal on his gold collar, symbolic of his selection as the most heroic dog of 1961.

The dog was selected from 54 canine candidates from 29 states for having helped save the life of his mistress, Penny Grantz, 10, March 15 by ripping a flaming skirt from the child.

Duke suffered severe burns on the mouth in the act. Penny, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grantz, Niles, Ohio, was treated for eight weeks for burns over 50 per cent of her body.

Physicians say the dog "almost certainly" saved the little girl's life.

There was no dearth of dog heroes for judges to select from.

A toy Manchester terrier from Daytona Beach, Fla., who brought aid to a stricken woman was named runner-up to Duke. A Vizsla hound from Bloomington, Minn., who led a man to a remote pond where his little master was stuck neck-deep, was third.

A dog of mixed origins from Hallsville, Mo., was fourth for having attracted his mistress' attention when her son had an accident and was slowly strangling. Another mixed breed from Brooklyn, N.Y., won fifth for tearing into an intruder's leg after he had robbed the dog's mistress and knocked her to the floor.

In addition to his medal and collar, Duke was awarded a gold-plated leash, a dog blanket, a year's supply of dog food, and a $1,000 U.S. bond in his owner's name.

Protests Fine When Tractor Skids By Line

CLONES, Ireland (AP) — Barney Mullen went to court Wednesday and testified that when his tractor started skidding it was in Northern Ireland but when it landed upside down in a field it was in southern Ireland.

Thus, said Barney, it is unfair to fine him for not having his tractor insured south of the border.

The incident took place last January. Barney, who lives in the northern County Fermanagh, said the skid had landed him over the border in southern County Monaghan.

Despite his protests, the southern Irish court fined him two pounds—$5.60 — for skidding into the Irish Republic without insurance for his vehicle.

Martha's Guild Of Houstonia Holds Meet

The Martha's Guild of the Houstonia Community Church met Thursday night with Mrs. Amos Rhinehart. There were 11 members and five guests present. A picnic supper was planned for Aug. 17 at Liberty Park in Sedalia. Mrs. Lee Blackburn had the devotional on the "Life of Rebecca." The hostess served refreshments during the social hour.

Began Her Acting At Age of 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Adeline de Walt Reynolds, who began a successful acting career at 70, is dead at 98.

Her family said Wednesday that Mrs. Reynolds had died in her sleep Sunday. She had worked until a few months ago.

Mrs. Reynolds had said she waited for a career because she was busy rearing four children after the death of her husband, Frank. Three children survive, among them actress Mary Adams.

Mrs. Reynolds made her first movie, "Come Live with Me," with James Stewart in 1941. After her first day before the camera, Stewart asked if she were tired.

"If you had waited 70 years to do something," she said, "you wouldn't be tired."

Films in which she appeared included "Going My Way" and "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

Born on a farm near Vinton, Iowa, she educated herself by borrowing books from a teacher friend.

At 68, Mrs. Reynolds received a degree from the University of California at Berkeley. She majored in French, but concentrated on dramatics in her spare time.

Private services have been conducted.

40 Prisoners Are Killed In Flames

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Officials Wednesday placed at 40 the death toll in a fire that raced through Taubate Prison Monday night. The 231 inmates set the prison on fire during a riot, officials said.

 (matter of) Fact

A tree that refuses to bear fruit needs a good scare, according to ancient Japanese belief. One man climbs the barren tree. Another stands at its feet with an axe and threatens to chop it down. His companion, playing the tree's part, begs, "Spare me! I will bear abundantly!" Malaysians and southern Europeans had almost the same ritual to "frighten" a tree into fruitfulness.

Intercross ALFALFA SEED

FOR HAY • PASTURE • QUALITY SILAGE

For peak performance and high-yielding crops, plant INTERCROSS brand alfalfa seed—adapted specifically for your farm needs. It offers you greater profits with long and short-term rotations . . . for hay . . . for pasture . . . for plowdown. INTERCROSS brand alfalfa seed has both superior germ plasma and is processed for high purity and germination.

MORE PRODUCTION, higher sustained production. Intercross brand is developed to produce peak performance, to do a better job on your alfalfa acreage.

FINE STEMMED, LEAFY, for maximum protein. The fine stems and exceptional leafiness of Intercross brand adds much to the forage quality, increases the protein in each ton.

WINTER HARDINESS to withstand cold weather. Tests show Intercross brand to have more weather persistence than any currently planted alfalfa varieties under adverse weather.

REAL SEEDLING VIGOR for quicker, thicker stands. Three days after planting, below the soil are strong roots, above, strong vigorous seedlings.

WILT RESISTANT, holds out against disease. Intercross brand alfalfa possesses more wilt resistance than common alfalfas and many of the so-called wilt-resistant varieties.

QUICK RECOVERY after grazing or cutting. When cut at the same time as other alfalfa, Intercross brand is usually several inches taller at the same growing stage.

FREQUENT CUTTING for top quality silage or hay. Intercross brand can be cut safely as any alfalfa without fear of stand depletion. This permits cutting every 35 to 40 days.

INTERCROSS ALFALFA SEED is specially developed for use right here in Missouri. Research plots and field tests were conducted right here in our own state.

Optimists Hear Talk By Keating

Thomas T. Keating, Representative from Pettis County to the State Legislature, gave an informative talk at Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel on the manner on which the State government is operated and some of the bills that affect Pettis County the most.

Representative Keating stated that there were 1100 bills introduced, and it takes 90 days to make those that passed effective. Among the bills that affect Pettis County the most was the two cent increase on cigarettes and the 50 per cent increase on beer and liquor tax.

Another thing is the State withholding tax and this, he went on to say, is a new method of collecting. He explained that when the State tax returns are filed this year only half will be paid through withholding, the remainder must be paid as it has always been.

Another bill was the gasoline tax. Missouri, he said, has a three cent gasoline tax which is the lowest in the nation. It is much to our interest, Keating explained, that it be increased two cents. The Governor will call a special election on giving some of it back to the cities for the building of streets with no strings attached. If his should be done then he city tax of one cent would be eliminated.

The bill that caused the most

John Gerling Family Holds Recent Reunion

A reunion of the late John Gerling family was held at Harley Park, Boonville, recently. A contributive dinner was held at the noon hour.

Members present were: Adrian Gerling, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerling, James, Robert and Carol Sue, Blackwater; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Kempf and daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Deborah and Diana, Boonville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brizendine and Patricia Ann, Clarkfork; Miss Ann Gerling, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lammers and sons, Harold and Joe, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vollmer, Pilot Grove.

trouble was the Use Tax Bill. Through misunderstanding about exceptions to the bill which would have affected the Missouri Pacific and other industries in Sedalia letters from his home town flooded the Capital City asking that the bill be killed. Keating learned that in some way it had been misinterpreted by many of the people in his county and he went to the Governor and explained the matter.

The speaker was introduced by Harold Barrick, program chairman.

Ed Mitchell, vice-president, presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Joe Forsee. Invocation was by the Rev. John Hansen. Charlie Hanna led the singing with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

If you want a pet to grow old with, get a cat. Cats sometimes live 30 years. This compares with 18 to 20 years for terriers and 15 to 18 years for large rabbits. And cats keep their youthful bounce to the end. One of the oldest cats on record, a female who died at 31, was still having kittens at 26.

Tanganyika Suitable Test For the New Peace Corps

EDITOR'S NOTE — The witch doctor is still in power in the bush, but it will take another sort of miracle man to bring progress to Tanganyika's primitive back country agriculture. That's where one of the first U.S. Peace Corps contingents is due to meet a rigorous test soon.

By LYNN HEINZERLING

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — "To fight problems not people," President Kennedy's Peace Corps could hardly find a more suitable place than Tanganyika.

The country has all the difficulties which plague Africa—disease, backwardness, poverty, a shaky economy and a colonial background. Peace and prosperity is what Tanganyika wants.

There are more than 100 tribes in Tanganyika, their past studded with bloody combat. The survivors appreciate the advantages of peace.

With 500 miles of coastline on the Indian ocean, Tanganyika has in its long history attracted Arabs and Persians, Indians and Chinese. The warlike Masai tribesmen filtered in from the north, and some of southern Africa's aggressive Zulus settled here.

Asians, Africans, Arabs and Europeans live together in comparative calm while the winds of change sweep Africa. The 30 members of the Peace Corps due later this year will find their know-how more important than the color of their skins.

But they're likely to find physical conditions tough.

Tanganyika is a country about a tenth the size of the United States. Within a few miles of the capital, Dar Es Salaam, with its modest luxuries, life can be wholly primitive among the Africans in mud or thatch huts.

Despite the efforts of missionaries, the witch doctor still is an important figure in the bush, and the majority of Africans are pagan. And to the clock-conditioned Westerner, their practice of ordering their lives by the position of the sun in the sky can be exasperating.

The country's greatest asset as it moves toward independence on Dec. 9 this year is not its diamond mines or its plantations, but a slender, onetime school teacher, Julius Nyerere, now prime minister.

Head of the only effective political organization in the country, the Tanganyika African National Union (TANU), Nyerere has led Tanganyika in the smoothest passage into independence experienced by any African territory.

It was Nyerere who decided the Peace Corps could help Tanganyika and the government backed him unanimously.

The Peace Corps mission to Tanganyika—first on the African continent—will include surveyors, engineers and geologists. They will make a survey for a feeder road system throughout the country. The roads will be designed to bring crops such as cotton, coffee and sisal to market and give African farmers a chance to exchange their labor for cash.

The only real opposition to the Peace Corpsmen has come from the African National Congress, a political organization whose motto is "Africa for the Africans" and which often echoes the Communist line on "American imperialism." The congress has described the Peace Corpsmen as "imperialist spies."

But not one voice was raised in the National Assembly against the Peace Corps.

Malaria is prevalent throughout Tanganyika except above an altitude of 7,000 feet. The Peace Corpsmen will take preventive pills for two years.

Tanganyika children have continual attacks of malaria in infancy and gradually acquire immunity to its most distressing effects. A malaria eradication campaign is in progress, but it has not yet licked the mosquito. The other serious threat to health is sleeping sickness. It is spread by the tsetse fly. Corpsmen working in the bush, where it breeds, will quickly learn to identify it and avoid it.

An effort is being made to eliminate the tsetse fly by clearing bush and spraying, but parts of five of the nine provinces are still danger spots.

Tanganyika's main export is sisal, a plant of the daffodil family, from whose fibres twine and rope are made. The country supplies about two-fifths of the world's supply.

Except for the famed Williamson Diamond Mine, now owned jointly by the Tanganyika government and De Beers Consolidated Mines Ltd., and some mining for gold and minerals, the country's economy is almost entirely agricultural.

But African farmers deep in the bush are thwarted by the absence of adequate feeder roads to get their crops to market. Heavy rains often wash out the primitive tracks which are their lifelines. It is to improve this situation that the Peace Corpsmen will apply their talents.

Under a three-year development plan, the government is expected to spend nearly $3 million to expand and improve feeder roads. The work of the Peace Corps will be a contribution to that program—surveying road links between small roads and main roads.

There will be very little entertainment if the Corpsmen are not entertained by the friendly Africans of the villages, the wild game and perhaps fishing. The larger towns, and they are few, usually have a movie house, cafes and a small hotel with bar and restaurant.

All the Corpsmen will take courses in Swahili before going to work. If these lessons take, their stay in Tanganyika will be more pleasant and profitable. And, indeed, if they expect to have any satisfactory contact with the Africans outside the towns, a knowledge of Swahili will be mandatory.

The country's economy has not yet developed to the point where all farmers could raise and sell a cash crop profitably. Many lead a shiftless life with little thought for tomorrow. They are friendly and courteous but often prisoners to a way of life shaped by disease, undernourishment and a hot sun. Plenty of work for the Peace Corps.

Clubs Participate In Share-the-Fun

Five 4-H Clubs participated in the Share-the-Fun Program during intermissions of 4-H Dress Revue held at the California High School Tuesday evening. The Clubs were competing for their chance to represent Moniteau County at the District Share-the-Fun contest at District Achievement Day at Sedalia Friday, Aug. 11.

All participants in the Share-the-Fun Program were awarded ribbons with Sharon Rohrbach of Clover 4-H Club winning a blue ribbon on her piano solo. The Wonder Workers 4-H Club won a blue ribbon on their skit entitled "How's Your Posture." The Red Brush 4-H Club won a blue ribbon with their skit of a Style Show, and Clarice Beth Sappington won a blue ribbon and a chance to represent Moniteau County at the District Contest. Wonder Workers was named first alternate and Red Brush second alternate.

Faye Allee of the Early Birds 4-H Club presented a monologue. The Show-Me 4-H Club presented four girls in a musical number. Sarah and Sue Bower represented the Wonder Workers 4-H Club with a comedy duet. All three numbers were awarded red ribbons.

This is the first time for a number of years that clubs have participated in a Share-the-Fun Program. In previous years, the Share-the-Fun Program was presented in connection with the County wide 4-H Picnic. The Share-the-Fun Program was dropped for a number of years, and was reactivated this year at the request of the 4-H Council.

"WHAT'S SO EMUSING?"—Wild pony tail-type hairdo was styled by mother nature for this emu chick at the London, England, zoo.

Red Police, Troops Work At Mutilation of Berlin

EDITOR'S NOTE — Lynn Heinzerling first went to Berlin in 1939 to report the first stages of World War II. He has spent the last 20 years in various parts of the world, and this year won the Pulitzer Prize for his reporting from Africa. Now he is back in Berlin—a far different Berlin. This is his story of the way the split city looks today.

By LYNN HEINZERLING
BERLIN (AP)—The police and troops of Communist East Berlin went about their somber task of mutilating this great city under a matching sky today.

Dark, forbidding clouds lay over the city. Communist tanks and armored cars lurked behind an arbitrary dividing line.

The people's army, the people's police, the factory militia and the railway police barred some 80,000 East Berliners from their jobs across the line.

On Friedrichstrasse, one of the city's great business arteries, the Communists have put down what looks like a permanent barrier. Great slabs of concrete are laid across the street in five knee-high barriers. Motorists must zigzag through the small openings as in an obstacle race to cross the line. Nobody in a hurry would make it.

There is an air of unreality about this business of trying to quarantine a major portion of a huge, modern city. It is difficult to believe it is happening. But there is the barbed wire on front of the stately Brandenburg Gate to prove it.

The Communist police and troops were huddled under the gate to escape the rain. On the Western side, a West German television crew had a camera with a two-foot lens focused on the gate and the modest military activity beyond.

Foreigners and West Germans could still enter East Berlin today. The secret policeman on Friedrichstrasse took one look at U.S. passports and politely waved reporters into the Communist section of the city.

Some of the people's police were less polite. One waved down the car just behind the Brandenburg Gate.

"Where do you think you're going?" he inquired angrily with the familiar worldwide expression. A voice said the small party of newsmen wanted only to view the ruins of Adolf Hitler's old office down the street.

"You can drive anywhere except where it says 'no through traffic!'" the policeman shouted. In East Berlin it seems that wherever there is a "no through traffic" sign, a collection of tanks or armored cars is nearby. There was one on the Wilhelmstrasse.

The linden trees still grace Unter den Linden, the old imperial and Nazi show street. But, behind them are ruins or mostly gray, lackluster buildings—with the outstanding exception of the immense Soviet Embassy.

The State Opera, where Hitler shouted, still stands. A small group of Communist militia sheltered under the portico today.

Great banners meet the eye in East Berlin: "Not a powder keg, but a demilitarized free city of Berlin." One of them waved in the wind near Alexanderplatz, not far from a wicked looking lineup of tanks.

Most of the armor and military activity appears concentrated behind the dividing line through the center of the city. Deep in the northern precincts of Berlin, there was little activity of any kind.

A flea with jumping legs of 1/20 of an inch can broad jump a distance of 13 inches and high jump up to 7½ inches. At this rate, a man with legs three feet long should be able to make a broad jump of 700 feet, and a high jump of 450 feet.

Along the Stalinallee, designed by the Communists as a show street to replace Unter den Linden, there were very few troops and no guns. Some of the tile facing on the fancy new buildings on Stalinallee is beginning to peel off.

In the course of the morning, power went off in East Berlin. Street cars were lined up in Alexanderplatz and stranded throughout the northern part of the city. The electrified trains were stopped.

At the Friedrichstrasse station, main transfer point for travelers between East and West Germany, everything came to a standstill. A railway employee at the door was explaining it to a newsman when a railway policeman came up importantly.

"You're not supposed to say that!" he shouted at the railwayman.

"I was just explaining why," the railwayman said.

"You're not supposed to explain anything," said the policeman.

The electricity came back after an hour.

A popular morning newspaper in West Berlin came out this morning with the headline: "The West does nothing."

But not all West Berliners expect the West to go too far in the present situation. One, who has lived through both wars and 16 years of a divided Berlin, said
